FAQ

Q: Are pets allowed on site? No pets. allowed. Service animals are permitted.

Q: Is the site wheelchair accessible? Yes, but the area that will hold the day camps and martial lists may be harder to access with mobility devices and require extra assistance due to it being downhill from the pathway. The main building and roadways are paved and accessible.

Q: Is alcohol allowed? No. The site is dry

Q: Will there be a lunch tavern, or feast? There will be a lunch tavern

Letter from the Chronicler

Greetings Barony!

Do you have a story from the time we became a Barony? Please write it out and send it to me or we can chat and I can record it! I don't want these stories lost to time.

Letter from the Chatelaine

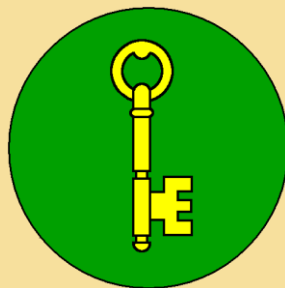

Final Chatelain Letter from Gabriel de Burgh

Hello Barony of Fenix! This is my last letter to you all as the Baronial Chatelain, but i'm not going to drag this on with some sappy goodbye, I'm not actually going anywhere. You're still stuck with me as your Rapier Marshal and, moving forward, your Herald!

In the mean time, my final act as the baronial Chatelain was to set up TWO different Demonstrations with different organizations around the Cincinnati Area. The larger of the two is also the later, and will be occurring as part of the Great Parks of Cincinnati Fairytale Festival at Glenwood Gardens. The more pressing one, however, is coming up pretty soon! April 20th at the Sharonville Library (10980 Thornview Drive, Sharonville, OH 45241). The Demo is from 11AM to 4PM, with setup at 9AM. At 1PM, we are scheduled to give a combat demonstration, and, especially since we are at a library, I would love to see a strong A&S showing put up through the day. I look forward to seeing you all there!

Lord Gabriel de Burgh

Letter from the Rapier Marshal

Greetings Fencers!

It has been a fun past few months slowly easing our way into some basic melee training (even if it hasn't been framed that way) and continuing to strengthen our fundamentals. I hope we can put this to good use at the Demonstration coming up soon! I expect to see you all there, April 20th at the Sharonville Library (10980 Thornview Drive, Sharonville, OH 45241)

Lord Gabriel de Burgh

Recipe - Jumbles

by THL Lynne Fairchild

Source Recipe:

To make Iombils a hundred.

Take twenty Egges and put them into a pot both the yolkes & the white, beat them wel, then take a pound of beaten suger and put to them, and stirre them wel together, then put to it a quarter of a pecke of flower, and make a hard paste thereof, and then with Anniseede moule it well, and make it in little rowles beeing long, and tie them in knots, and wet the ends in Rosewater, then put them into a pan of seething water, but euen in one waum, then take them out with a Skimmer and lay them in a cloth to drie, this being doon lay them in a tart panne, the bottome beeing oyled, then put them into a temperat Ouen for one howre, turning them often in the Ouen. (Dawson, 1597)

My Interpretation

1 3/4 cup Einkorn wheat flour
1/2 cup cane sugar
2 eggs
1 Tbsp aniseed (Pimpinella anisum)
1 tsp rosewater for the ends
1 Tbsp butter for oiling the pan

Preheat the oven to 350° F. Combine the eggs and sugar. Mix in the flour, saving the aniseed for last. Roll dough into 1-inch diameter balls. Then, roll and shape the dough like a pretzel on a floured board. Secure the ends with rosewater. In a large pot, bring water to a boil. Poach the knots for about 30 seconds. They will instantly sink to the bottom of the pot. Then, use a utensil to free them from the bottom and they will float. After another moment, remove the knots from the water. Then, lay the knots on a towel to dry for about 5 minutes. Butter the baking pan. Once dry, bake the knots for about 20 minutes, turning them over after every 5 minutes. Turn the oven down to 325° F after the first 10 minutes.

Yield: approximately 25 pretzels
